

Political Parties Divide Winners; Six for Each Side

Republicans Elect Three Aldermen; Democrats Keep Marshal, Assessor

Sedalia voters went to the polls in the city election Tuesday and expressed themselves by scratching their tickets, and dividing the city candidates between the Democratic and Republican parties, each landing six of the twelve offices at stake.

There were 4,617 votes cast, a much heavier vote than had been anticipated by either party. During the early part of the day, reports indicated one of the lightest votes in the history of city election, and this carried on until shortly after 3 o'clock, when the voters began arriving in large numbers at the various precincts over the city.

Although the Missouri Pacific shops did not shut down at 3 o'clock, as in previous years, many employees left their work at that time for the sole purpose of voting. The Missouri-Kansas-Texas shops released their employees at the 3 o'clock hour so they could cast their vote in the election.

Judges of election, throughout the day, would only indicate the candidates were running "neck-and-neck," and the candidates at no time during the day felt certain of election. However, the reports spurred the city workers of both parties and the telephones were kept busy asking eligible voters, "have you voted?" and urging them to go to the polls and vote for someone.

Republicans Gain in Council

With the election of three aldermen to the city council by the Republicans, that party gains three seats, and the control of the council, while only one Democrat was elected to this body, which governs the city's business. The council is headed by Mayor A. H. Wilks, and the Republican aldermen, in the first ward are T. H. Yount, and Frank Middleton, who defeated Emmet Sullivan; Frank Royce and Richard "Dick" Keenan, who defeated Elmer Summers, in the second ward; A. L. Pringle and John F. Taylor (only Democrat) who defeated J. Max Holland, Republican in the third ward; Herbert Seifert and Leo Eickhoff, who defeated Kenneth R. Middleton in the fourth ward.

Democratic Chief of Police

Anson Finnell, who has been a member of the police department for several years, both as patrolman and night chief, defeated Ray George for the office of chief of police.

Charles P. Keck, defeated William "Bill" Morgan for the office of collector of revenue. He will succeed R. F. Harris, who was appointed to that office by Mayor A. H. Wilks last November, but was defeated by his party for the nomination in the Republican convention to run to succeed himself. Mr. Harris was appointed to fill the vacancy of William Hert, Jr., who resigned when called to the army for pre-induction examination.

Charles W. Bente, was re-elected as police judge. He defeated Fred Brereton. Judge Bente has served four two-year terms and is starting on his fifth term.

William M. "Will" Ilgenfritz, defeated Frank T. Armstrong running to succeed himself, for the office of attorney. Mr. Armstrong had been serving as city attorney since John Z. Montgomery left Sedalia last June, who had been elected to the office.

GOP Convention in St. Louis Next Week

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—(P)—Missouri Republicans will meet here a week from today at their state convention to name four delegates-at-large to complete their 30-member delegation to the national convention at Chicago.

Six of the 26 members selected by congressional districts have been instructed to support the candidacy of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for president. Two are uninstructed but are known to favor Dewey, and 18 are uninstructed and have not expressed a presidential preference. Most of the district meetings did not discuss the instruction of delegates.

Smithton Election
The town of Smithton Tuesday elected the following:

Members of the town board—George DeHaven, John S. Daniels, Howard Hall, L. V. Jackson and W. H. Woehns.

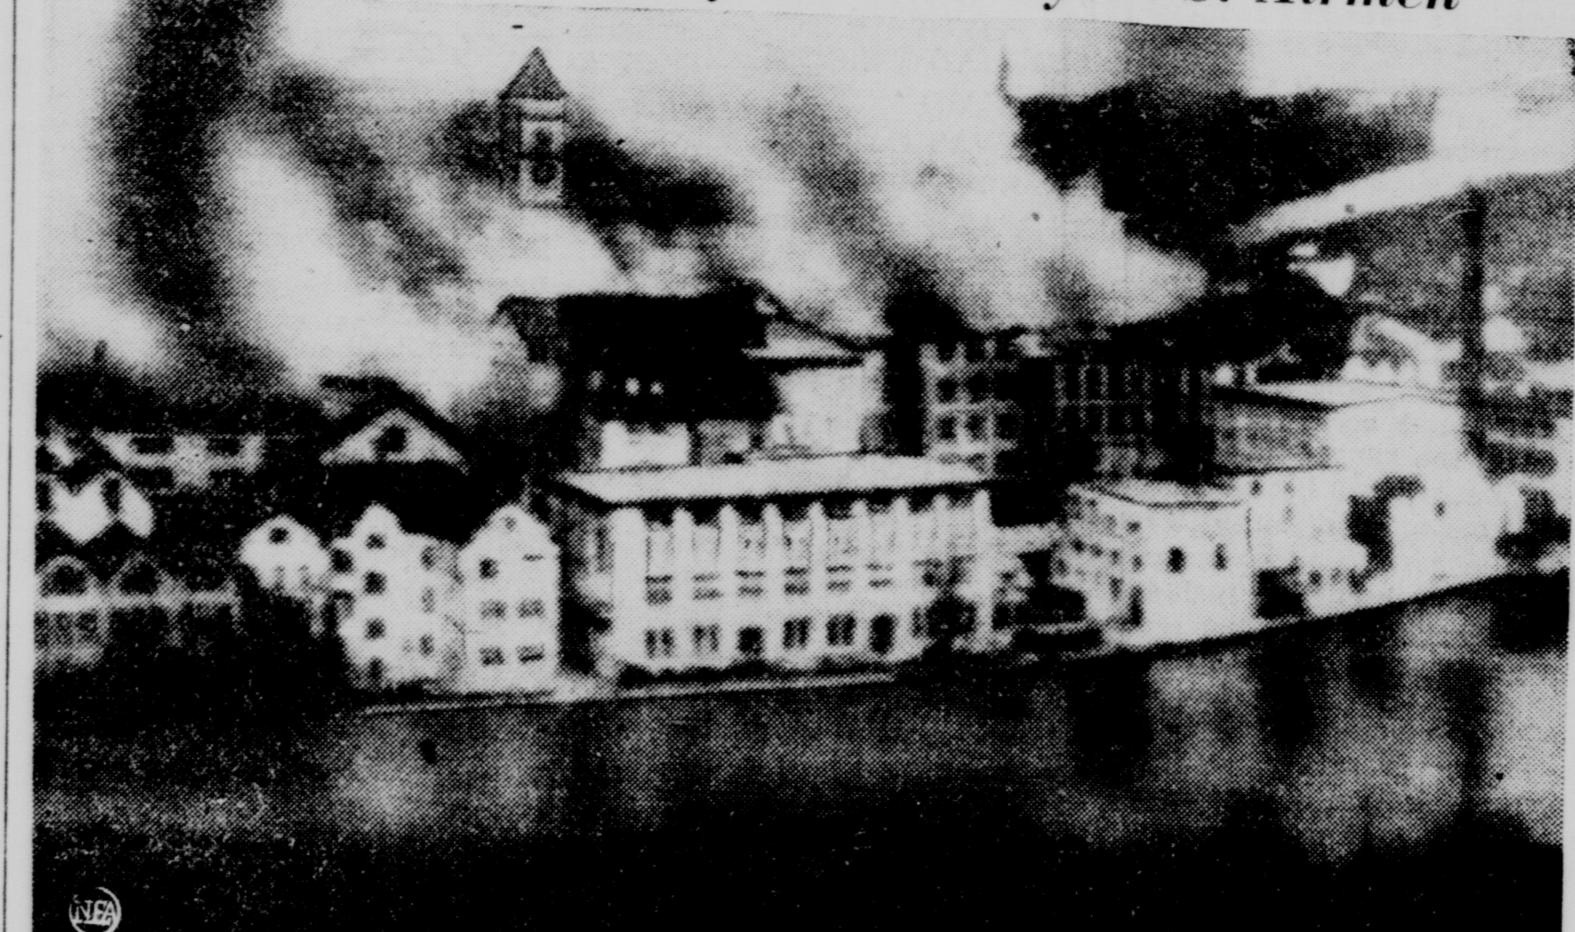

School board—Henry L. Schlotzauer and Robert Griffin. The school levy carried by a unanimous vote.

Elect. Republicans in Tulsa
TULSA, Okla., April 5.—(P)—Olney F. Flynn, the first Republican to win a mayoralty election in Tulsa in 16 years, yesterday defeated the Democratic incumbent, Mayor C. H. Veale, who sought reelection for a third term.

With Flynn was swept into office the entire Republican ticket.

Joplin's Ex-Police Chief Commissioner

Only Democratic Councilman in Carthage Defeated

By The Associated Press
Missouri municipal elections yesterday featured comeback attempts by two city officials who had been under fire in their former posts. One was successful.

At Joplin, T. C. Bone, discharged

as chief of police only four months ago by Mayor John M. Temples, landed a seat on the city council with the mayor yesterday by defeating Joe H. Myers, veteran commissioner of public property and public utilities, 2,835 to 2,137.

But at Moberly Mrs. Clara S. Heuer failed to regain her post of city collector from which she resigned last month during an impeachment hearing on charges that her records showed discrepancies of $3,800.

Mrs. Heuer, who asserted the alleged shortages were "honest mistakes" and reimbursed the city, was defeated, 1,353 to 749, by Mrs. W. O. Spurll, a newcomer in politics.

Howard G. Myles unseated Clyde A. Fawks who was seeking a sixth term on Moberly's city council, and these councilmen were re-elected: M. E. Lambirth, Frank See, and J. C. Jacoby.

Joplin's only other contest saw

Dr. V. E. Kenney defeated Dr.

H. L. Wilbur for re-election as health commissioner.

Twenty-four delegates were elec-tected. With 2,283 of the state's

3,076 precincts reported, the four presidential prospects stood as

THE DAILY WASHINGTON merry-go-round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, April 5—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox is considering a sweeping reorganization of the navy's war procurement methods, under a confidential plan submitted to him by Representative Harry R. Sheppard of California, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee on naval affairs.

Sheppard has recommended that all procurement offices of the navy department be consolidated under one agency, preferably the bureau of supplies and accounts, which did most of the navy's purchasing in peacetime but has been shoved into the background since war broke.

Various navy branches, including the bureau of ships, the bureau of yards and docks, the ordnance bureau, and the bureau of aeronautics, now do virtually all of their own procuring, subject only to a check by Knox's office. Knox was talked into approving the system by the Brass Hats, who argued it would expedite the flow of equipment for naval sea and air forces.

Actually, the system has resulted in endless duplication and confusion, not to mention waste of the taxpayers' money. Congressman Sheppard has evidence that millions could have been saved by centralized supervision over purchasing. As it is, the navy is amassing inventories of war goods that may never be used, with four or five different bureaus stocking up.

The hard-hitting Sheppard has notified Knox that, unless steps are taken at once to reduce these inventories and coordinate procurement, congress will do some sharp pruning of future navy appropriations, which would accomplish the same result. It looks like the Californian's "one warehouse" idea will win out.

Tobacco Ed Smith

South Carolina's Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith turned up at a meeting of tobacco growers in the Statler hotel last week to discuss OPA price ceilings for the 1944 tobacco crop.

Instead of talking tobacco price ceilings, however, the walrus mustached senator harangued on the subjects of white supremacy, the sunny south, "that carpet-bagger from New York who tried to purge me" (jerking a thumb toward the White House), and finally he got on to the subject of bureaucrats.

"The tobacco growers from the sunny south," bellowed the South Carolina senator, "are unfairly hampered and annoyed by a set of rules drawn up by bureaucrats who have never seen tobacco grown."

Then, pointing a trembling finger at Edward Ragland, chief of OPA's tobacco section, "Cotton Ed" accused:

"You, suh! Did you ever see tobacco growin's in the sunny south?"

"Yes, suh," replied Ragland.

"And did you ever pick a single leaf of tobacco in the sunny south?"

"Yes, suh," said Ragland again. "Did you ever see tobacco stored in a warehouse?" persisted the irate senator.

"Yes, suh."

"Did you ever have to sell tobacco in the open market and know that your livelihood depended upon it?"

When Ragland said he had, Smith scowled. "Young man, are PROLOGUE: A Colorado farmer, looking for some strayed calves on a September evening in 1919, comes upon a sick stranger who has been a burden to him with his important wife and manager. Seeking help, the farmer fails and knocks himself out. When he revives both stranger and message are gone. No one believes his story.

WHY AMERICA?

I WAS only 3 years old when my grandfather, Jan Mesrik, suffered his strange injury in the autumn of 1919. I have one of those flash memories of the scene when my grandmother called my mother and father into the kitchen. But whether it is a real memory or one imagined from later descriptions, I do not know.

I can also remember the set of my grandfather's jaw as I saw it when I followed my grandmother into his room during his illness. But this, too, may not be a real memory, for since that time I have become quite familiar with that manner of setting the jaw. I inherited that jaw and that mannerism. I know how it works and what it means. It means that the rest of the world can go fly a kite; that the man behind the jaw is going down his own road, asking favors from no one, caring little what others may think. In my grandfather's case, the man was walking alone with his God. But, I'm younger, and maybe I want more human company. At least I'd like to have a little more human company for my grandfather, a few more people to understand him as I understand him, even though he's gone now.

Still it is not alone for this reason I am writing this story of my grandfather. I hope that an explanation of Jan Mesrik will help others, people who never heard of him, to understand better what has happened since that night in the fall of 1919, for, although the events of that night had a direct bearing on the rest of Jan Mes-

At this point, the OPA official got to his feet and declared:

"I was born in Virginia and my mother was born in South Carolina, your state. I started pickin' tobacco before I was 12 years old, and since I left college, I've been in the tobacco business for twelve years. I've picked it, warehoused it, and run a tobacco factory—all in the sunny south!"

Prolonged applause came from growers and officials alike.

Senator Maybank of South Carolina rose and with apologies to his senatorial colleague, allowed as how it looked like Ragland of the OPA knew more about tobacco than Senator Smith.

Senate Butters It

Service men and other visitors to the U.S. capitol these days are always served butter with their meals—if they lunch on the house side of the capitol.

But a waiter in the senate restaurant takes his job in his hands if he serves piece of butter to a tourist. Waiters in the senate restaurant are instructed to tell all visitors, including servicemen: "Sorry, we have no butter today, due to the shortage." This little act has been going on for months.

Don't let them kid you, soldier.

There's plenty of butter in the refrigerator of the senate restaurant—but it is reserved only for senators.

Parachute Care

Here is how careful the civil aeronautics board is regarding parachutes, in contrast perhaps to some other branches of the government.

When Horn's Flying School at Chagrin Falls, Ohio, permitted four parachute harnesses to become defective, the school's air agency certificates were suspended for thirty days. This action was taken despite the fact that the parachutes were packed by a professional packer who apparently failed to report the matter to the head of the school.

Nevertheless, the CAB ruled that the school failed to "exercise the highest degree of care to insure that airworthy parachutes are available. The difference between that degree of care and something less may mean the difference between life and death to those who must rely on them in an emergency."

"Yes, suh."

"Did you ever have to sell tobacco in the open market and know that your livelihood depended upon it?"

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Jefferson City, April 5—A desperate attempt was made at 1 o'clock this morning by fifty convicts in the Missouri penitentiary to blow up the prison, kill the several guards, then escape and turn loose 300 men who are wearing stripes, serving sentences for all of the crimes in the criminal catalogue. Only the timely interference of two guards, who risked their lives, frustrated the well-laid plans. Twenty pounds of dynamite, a bottle of nitroglycerin, two revolvers, cartridges and skeleton keys were found in the cell of one of the convicts.

The first issue of the Joplin Evening Post made its appearance Monday evening. The new paper is democratic in politics, and is edited and managed by Representative Richard N. Graham. The Post is an ardent supporter of Joseph W. Folk for governor, and will be an organ of the anti-Barber faction.

Mother Estes, who has been the superior of the sisters of the Sacred Heart church for the past six years, has resigned her position and she left today for Rensselaer, Ind. her successor has not been made known.

G. T. (Doc) Lambirth has sold his mill property, on East Main street, to E. H. Burford, of Bunceton, who has taken possession and will conduct the business in the future. Mr. Lambirth has again associated himself with the Sedalia Milling company and will be with that firm in the future.

Mrs. Willa Laudenberger and daughter, Miss Marian Laudenberger, 409 West Seventh street, had as guests last Saturday evening Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Thomas E. Ormiston of Cleveland, Ohio.

Col. Ormiston, was graduated from the Command and General Staff school at Ft. Leavenworth, on March 30 and is enjoying a leave while visiting his wife's relatives in Sedalia and vicinity. Mrs. Ormiston was formerly Miss Beulah Fall of the Olive Branch school district.

Col. Ormiston served with the 35th division in France in World War I and was called back into his country's service in April, 1941. After Pearl Harbor he served 16 months in Alaska.

Prior to attending the Command and General Staff school at Lt. Leavenworth he commanded a provisional regiment at the Engineer Unit Training center at Camp Claiborne, La., and is returning to Camp Claiborne after visiting here.

Mrs. Ormiston has been a Red Cross Nurses' Aide since March, 1942. She worked for St. John's hospital in Cleveland and for the Baptist hospital in Alexandria, La., while Col. Ormiston was at Camp Claiborne.

Their son, Cpl. Thomas E. Ormiston, Jr., is with the 3rd Marine Air Wing at Cherry Point, N. C., and has completed 15 months of training.

A daughter, Ruth Jean, is in her senior year in high school and remains with her uncle, John Ormiston and family in Leavenworth, Kas., to complete her school term.

Miss Ruby Hall of Sedalia and Cpl. Bertram Taylor of New York were married Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. A. W. Kokendoffer, former Christian church minister at his home on south Ohio avenue.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Potts Evans.

The bride wore a teal blue dress with accessories to match and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Cpl. Taylor is stationed at the Sedalia Army Air Field on military police duty at Warrensburg, Mo.

Mrs. Taylor is employed at the Green Pastures.

Defendant Kills Self

ELKTON, Md., April 5.—(P)—

Joseph Ben Decker, 58, former Triumph explosives executive under a three-year federal sentence for mail fraud, died today in a hospital of shotgun wounds that

U.S. Marshal August Klecka said were inflicted by Decker himself, a few hours before he was to go to prison.

Political Parties Divide
Winners, Six for Each

feated Mrs. E. M. Hatfield, Mrs. Boothe was first elected last year to fill the vacancy of the office created by the death of Miss Jean Slack, a Democrat, who passed away.

Ed. L. Gorman, was re-elected utility rates gave Dr. M. C. Any, a dentist, a 911 to 543 victory over James P. Harlin, mayor for 32 years, and swept out Harlin's colleagues on the city council.

Harlin's administration had abolished taxes and paid the city's expenses from receipts of municipal utilities. Amyx charged that electric rates were excessive.

Webb City—Republicans won all but a single councilman's seat in this city's government, normally Democratic.

POPLAR BLUFF — Republicans elected a police chief and four of the five aldermanic candidates.

Less than 2,000 votes were cast.

Age-Group Draft System

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(P)—Selective service resort to an age-group system today to fill the high command's requisitions for fighting men.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, outlined the new formula in a broadcast last night. Men under 26 will be taken first. Then, with progressively less strict requirements, the 26-29 group will be summoned, followed by those over 30.

Hershey also promised that his organization will "aid to the limit of its ability" in seeing that 4-F's who refuse to stay on their wartime jobs are made to pull their weight in the nation's fight.

There are indications, he said, that "by legislative or administrative action by both, means will be found to insure that they do necessary work."

Hershey said local draft boards will be instructed to balance the need for food against the critical demand for military manpower in weighing farm deferments.

Extra Gas Coupons
For Victory Gardeners

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(P)—Victory gardeners were given another break on gasoline rations today by the office of price administration.

OPA ruled that gardeners may receive special allotments good for 300 miles for traveling to and from their plots this season.

To obtain the special ration, however, the gardener must be regularly cultivating an area of at least 1500 square feet which he visits twice weekly. Also, he must make a ride-sharing agreement if possible and show that no alternative means of transportation is available.

Ration Free Auto

BETHLEHEM, Pa., April 5.—(P)—Chemistry students at Lehigh University have built a "ration-free" automobile.

The engine uses charcoal. Prof. Charles Stoops says air is passed through a hot charcoal bed, producing carbon monoxide, which is fed into the cylinders. The car, which Stoops uses, makes 15 miles an hour.

Paratrooper Sends Prized Lace to Wife

Mrs. Francis Carney. Afternoon tea was held in the dining room and films shown in the members room. Dancing was held in the ballroom with the U. S. A. orchestra furnishing the music which was a complete program of American popular and patriotic songs which made Sgt. Roach so home-sick he left early.

Sgt. Roach left for overseas just after Christmas of 1943. He went first to Ireland but recently has been stationed in England. His wife came to Sedalia to live with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Roach, 411 West Fifth street.

Both Former Sedalians

Both Sgt. and Mrs. Roach are former Sedalians. Sgt. Roach was born in Sedalia and spent his childhood here going later with his parents to Jefferson City. Mrs. Roach was the former Miss Muriel McElroy, daughter of the late A. R. McElroy and Mrs. McElroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Roach are from Springfield, Mo., and their son, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hayes, are from Sedalia.

Sgt. Roach has two sisters, Mrs. William Sims, 515 West Seventh street, and Mrs. Floyd Croy of St. Louis.

Warn Not to Kill Songbirds

There have been complaints from a number of residents about boys, both grade and high school pupils, killing songbirds with their slingshots and B-B guns.

One resident has names and addresses of several of the boys and will turn them over to police if warnings, previously given, are not heeded.

The boys, in some instances, have been seen while shooting at the harmless birds which not only provide springtime nature songs, but are a protection against insects that are destructive to gardens.

'Red' Embree Says He Will Win Fifteen

Munger, Byerly and Furisich to Pitch Against the Browns

By Ted Meier

NEW YORK, April 5—(P)—"Put me down for 15 victories," Charles "Red" Embree told all and sundry at the Cleveland Indians spring training camp at Lafayette, Ind., yesterday.

That sounds like a rash statement from a rookie pitcher who didn't even play in 1943. But Embree can make good his boast if he shows the form he did in pitching Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to an eastern league pennant in 1941.

That year Embree, a 22-year-old right-hander from Glendora, Calif., in an earned run average of 1.69 in winning 21 games and losing only five for Wilkes-Barre. Called up the next year by the Indians he won three and lost four gaining invaluable experience in the big time. Last season he stayed on his California farm, but kept in training by pitching occasionally. Embree undoubtedly will be sent to the firing line within a few days.

News about other major league teams:

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS—George Munger, Bud Byerly and Al Furisich nominated to divide pitching duties against Browns on Saturday.

ST. LOUIS BROWNS—George McQuinn, veteran first sacker, has played every inning of five exhibition games and handled more than 50 chances without an error.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX—Manager Jimmy Dykes left for Philadelphia home to attend Saturday

Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, April 5—(P)—Writing as a small-town fan as well as a sports editor, Jimmie Murphy of the Canton, Ill., Daily Ledger offers the opinion that "small town fans are the forgotten men of the sports world despite the fact that they support sports events in the larger cities by attending sports events whenever possible." . . . so far as baseball is concerned, Jimmie blames the farm system for this situation and adds that, if farms were eliminated, it would mean the return of minor league baseball to many small cities which dropped out because the local owners couldn't compete with major-owned clubs . . . mainly because he touches on the "small-town fans" angle, Jimmie's opinion seems to merit special attention.

Quote, Unquote

"The Illinois-Missouri League disbanded years ago along with other minor circuits, once-prosperous organizations which provided entertainment for fans in the 'hick' towns represented. Those leagues were financed by local businessmen. Then came the farm system and goodbye baseball to most smaller cities. It is true that in most of these cities baseball did not pay its own way and that financing them was a tough proposition. But the businessmen usually donated to and helped secure the money necessary to move a franchise, and in most cases it was only a year or two until the fans demanded the return of a team.

Round The Mulberry Bush

Jimmie touches on various other angles, notably the unfairness to ball players who are held down on farm clubs, but in a few words he has hit both the strength and weakness of the farm system . . . the weakness is that fans don't like absentee ownership, especially if the owner clubs grab off a few good players in the middle of a hot pennant race . . . the strength lies in providing efficient management and absorbing the inevitable losses . . . as one farm advocate puts it: "Baseball is a specialized business and you can't expect a small town baker or hardware man to know how to run a ball club. If those fellows have a few bad seasons, they just quit and no other club can start up in that territory until all obligations are paid off" . . . and, as Murphy says, the fans support events in the larger cities (or did when they had gasoline) sometimes at the expense of their home town teams.

Hornsby to Return to Fort Worth

Mexico Has Future in Baseball But is Now Lacking Organization

MEXICO CITY, April 5—(P)—Rogers Hornsby, former major league great who came to Mexico back in February amid reams of publicity, has resigned as manager of the Vera Cruz club in the Mexican baseball league.

"The Rajah" said last night he would return to Fort Worth, Tex., where he piloted that city's Texas league club in 1942 before the loop decides to quit for the duration.

"I'm perfectly willing to keep my own agreements if the other fellow keeps his," Hornsby explained. "But in this case it's hopeless."

"I found out that I'd even have to pay my expenses on road trips and that's unheard of. The management finally consented to pay my expenses, but there were many other matters to iron out. I finally gave up."

Jorge Pasquel, president of the league and also of the Vera Cruz club, did not comment.

Hornsby asserted there is a great future for baseball in Mexico, but a lack of organization.

"Everybody treated me fine here," he said. "Maybe I'll come back to Mexico some day. Meanwhile there probably are many opportunities in the United States."

After a poor start, Hornsby piloted the Vera Cruz club to second place in the league. He himself won two games as a ninth inning pinch hitter, the latest on Saturday when he drove in three runs with a double with the bags loaded.

giants has one solution that he thinks will take care of the problem . . . that is to establish working agreements whereby the major league clubs, in return for options on a certain number of players, guarantees the minor league club against losses for the season, provided that it stays within a pre-arranged budget . . . such agreements are responsible for the revival of the Ohio State League this season . . . and, come to think of it, there were 19 minor leagues operating in 1920 before the farm problem became serious, and 44 in 1940, just before the war began to cut them down.

Claim Allied Prisoners Carry On War In Camps

By Mel Most

(Recently returned from internment in Germany).

NEW YORK, April 5—(P)—Nazi charges that Allied prisoners in Germany "continue the war from inside the prison camps" are the latest menace to American and British captives—possibly in connection with the threat to try American airmen for alleged illegal warfare.

The new complaint was made at war prisoners' camps by German army authorities. They transmitted it to Swiss delegates representing United States interests, who later visited our internment center at Baden Baden.

Repatriated American prisoners on board the Gripsholm, however, told me they had strict army orders—enforced among the prisoners themselves—to avoid any mutinies or overt acts which would bring troubles on their own heads. "But if the Jerries expect us to forget we're at war altogether, they soon find they've got another guess coming," an air force lieutenant asserted hotly.

Officers and enlisted men are instructed as to their rights if captured and are expected to insist on them. This occasionally may cause difficulties, especially where material shortages inside Germany literally make it impossible for the camp authorities to fulfill all their obligations under international law.

A dangerous precedent was set by the recent trial of three British officers who attempted to escape. Under international law, escape is the privilege of every prisoner of war. If caught, the fugitive is given 21 days in the guardhouse and no further action may be taken against him, whether it is his first attempt or his twentieth.

The German army is trying to get around this with a new legal joker charging would-be fugitives with damaging army property. Under normal circumstances, for example, any person cutting through army barbed wire entanglements would get a stiff sentence, but up to now actions of this sort by prisoners have been treated as part of the escape attempt.

These things now are treated as separate acts, and hence as a delinquency involving severe penalties.

The recent trial involved three prisoners who attempted to tunnel their way out. They went on trial charged with destroying some electric wiring in their barracks and were acquitted only because they could show that the wiring was merely ripped down and not actually destroyed.

Punish For Property Damage

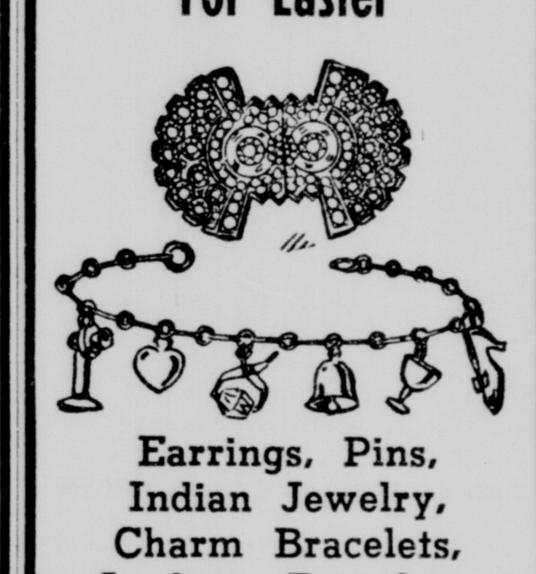

The principle of punishment for property damage while breaking out, therefore, remains a sword over the head of any prisoner. Actually it is so much against military usage that most German camp commanders refuse to claim any property damages against fugitives.

As to the threat of trying Americans on the grounds of waging inhuman warfare, United States military observers in Europe told me they did not think it would materialize, but that the Germans are deliberately leaving the question in mid-air for propaganda purposes, hoping to affect the morale of Allied fliers.

The threat was first made after the Doolittle raid on Tokyo, when the Wilhelmstrasse said "time will show" whether the Nazis would follow the Japanese in executing captured fliers.

Then early last December, every German newspaper was ordered to publish a back and profile view of an American aviator with the words "Murder, Inc." painted on the back of his leather coat, saying he was a member of the crew of a Flying Fortress shot down over Bremen Nov. 20.

Reasons For Ire

If this was actually the famous bomber nicknamed "Murder, Inc." the Germans had plenty of reason for anger against its crew, since the fort shot down 11 German fliers in a single engagement last October. The picture, however, was offered as evidence that American fliers actually were engaged in assassination.

At this moment came the Soviet trial of three Germans at Kharkov, with further Nazi threat of reprisals. As recently as Jan. 26, the Berlin radio reiterated, when the question of trying American aviators was raised, that "it could not be denied that this matter was in a state of preparation."

American prisoners of war with whom I spoke, however, felt that as Germany became more and more vulnerable with each new defeat, she was if anything becoming more careful in her handling of prisoners and would probably be deterred from carrying out the threat.

Eden To Full Leadership

LONDON, April 5—(P)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to resign this week so that he can devote full time to government leadership in the house of commons, a step in accordance with the conservative party's program to groom him to succeed Prime Minister Churchill.

Reports of the foreign minister's impending exit from one of his present posts were coupled with speculation over other possible cabinet changes involving Robert Spear Hudson, agricultural minister, and Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, fuel minister. It is suggested however that Eden would remain in the war cabinet under some nominal title.

Lord Cranborne, dominions secretary, has been mentioned prominently to succeed Eden, with Lord Beaverbrook, restive lord privy seal, being given the inside track to take over the dominions portfolio.

Firemen Kept Busy Tuesday Afternoon

Three fire runs within two hours kept firemen busy Tuesday afternoon.

An alarm was turned in at 3:14 o'clock from Mrs. J. G. Love, 612 South Kentucky avenue, at whose home an electric iron had started burning. Damage was estimated at $25.

A match that had somehow been touched off in some paper under a counter at the pool hall at 209 West Main street, operated by Robert Ream, was the cause for the second call, at 3:52. The fire was out upon arrival of the trucks. Damage was slight.

The third alarm came at 4:41 o'clock from the home of "Mike" Willhite, 311 West Seventh street, where the firemen kept watch over a burning flue. There was no damage.

Fined For Driving Truck Without Taillight

Otto Louis Meyers, who lives near Sedalia, pleaded guilty in the court of Justice of the Peace A. M. Harlan Tuesday to charges of driving his 1936 Chevrolet truck without a taillight on the night of April 1, when he was arrested by the highway patrol.

He paid a fine of $5 and costs, a total of $13.70.
